Contents

Preface vii
Acknowledgement xiii

PART-I
ASPECTS RELATED TO THE TRANSPERSONAL PSYCHOLOGICAL MOVEMENT AND SRI AUROBINDO'S INTEGRAL YOGA

Chapter I: Psychotherapy 3
Introduction 3
Conclusion 7

Chapter II: Conventional Psychotherapy and Spiritual Disciplines 12
Introduction 12
Obstacles on the Way to Divine Awakening Within 21

Chapter III: Metaphysical Psychology 28
The Metaphysical Nature of Spiritual Discipline 28
'Self' in Metaphysics 36
The Psychological Nature of the Self 36
The Metaphysical Nature of the Self—The Self in the Upanishads; The Self in Advait Vedanta and Yoga; The Advait Vedanta of Sankara; Patanjali's Yoga 38
Status of the Self in Sri Aurobindo's Metaphysical System 47
Self in Conventional Western Psychotherapy and Traditional Eastern Spiritual Disciplines 51

Chapter IV: The Transpersonal Psychological Movement 55
Transpersonal Psychology 55
Transpersonal Psychotherapy 59
Transpersonal Psychiatry 67
Psychopathology—Psychotics; Borderliners; Neurotics 69
Healing the Split 72

Chapter VIII: Sadhana in Integral Yoga and Its Difficulties 251
Introduction 251
Difficulties in the Process of Sadhana 255
Difficulties of the Physical Being 261
Difficulties of the Vital Being 262
Difficulties of the Mental Being 264
Conclusion: Difficulties of the Lower Parts of the Being 265
Difficulties in the Intermediate Zone 267
Difficulties of the Subliminal Being 269
Difficulties in Psychic Transformation 271
Difficulties in Spiritual Transformation 272
Difficulties in Supramental Transformation 274
Conclusion 275
The Sunlit Path 277
Preparatory Process of Purification 281
Aspiration and Faith 282
Equality and Self-opening 283
Surrender 284
Grace 286
The Triple Path in Sadhana 289
Sadhana Through Work 290
Sadhana Through Knowledge and Meditation 292
Meditation 294
Sadhana Through Love and Devotion 298
Conclusion: Sadhana and its Difficulties 303

PART-III

A DIALOGUE BETWEEN KEN WILBER'S INTEGRAL VIEWS AND SRI AUROBINDO'S METAPHYSICAL VISION

Chapter IX: The Transpersonal Psychological Movement and Integral Sadhana 313
Conventional Systems of Psychotherapy and Integral Sadhana 313
The Ego in Transpersonal Psychotherapy and Integral Sadhana 317
God in Transpersonal Psychotherapy and Integral Sadhana 323
Transpersonal Psychotherapy and Integral Sadhana 328

Chapter X: A Critical Evaluation of Ken Wilber's Commentary on the Refinement of Sri Aurobindo's 'Individual' Integral Yoga 337

(A) Sri Aurobindo's Views on Science 340

(B) Sri Aurobindo's Metaphysical Vision 347

(C) Sri Aurobindo's Views on the Individual and Collectivity 351

(D) Sri Aurobindo's Views on Sociology 359

(E) Sri Aurobindo's Views on Culture 362

(F) Sri Aurobindo's Views on Religion 368

(G) Sri Aurobindo's Views on Ethics 373

(H) Sri Aurobindo's Future Vision and Ken Wilber's World-view 380

(I) Final Conclusion 385

Chapter XI: Ken Wilber's Critical Interpretations of Various Aspects of Sri Aurobindo's Metaphysical Vision 394

(A) Ken Wilber on Sri Aurobindo's Ultimate Realisation 394

(B) Sri Aurobindo's and Ken Wilber's Concept of Integration and Transformation 403

(C) Sri Aurobindo's Cosmic Evolution in Terrestrial Nature 411

(D) Sequence: Ken Wilber's and Sri Aurobindo's Developmental Models 416

(E) Ken Wilber's Vision-logic and Sri Aurobindo's Spiritualised Mind 423

(F) Ken Wilber's Psychic Level and Sri Aurobindo's Psychic Being 428

Wilber-II 434

Wilber-III 438

Wilber-IV 439

(G) Karma and Rebirth 449

(H) A Critical Estimate of Ken Wilber 454

Chapter XII: Sri Aurobindo's Metaphysical Yoga Psychology 464

(A) Introduction 464

Sri Aurobindo's Interpretation of Freudian Psychoanalysis 472

(B) Psychopathology in Sri Aurobindo's Yoga Psychology 493

(i) Illness Due to Yoga 494

(ii) Psychological Health in Integral Yoga 495

(iii) Psychopathology and the Role of Consciousness-Force 499
(C) Ken Wilber on Psychopathology 506
(D) Heredity 508
(E) A Critical Estimate of Sri Aurobindo's Integralism 512
(F) The Ashram 521
(G) Auroville, The City of Human Unity 524

Epilogue 531

Bibliography 555
Index 561